

The Bird Feeder

WELCOME TO THE BIRDFEEDER

What is the most beautiful season of the year? Here's a hint - it starts with an F and ends with ALL.

It's football season! Yay, pigskin time is finally back and I won't be missing a minute of the action - because they show seven replays of every down. It also means I get to eat food in the family room again. We moved the fridge next to the couch because of my inability to balance chip, dip, and beer ratios. No more running out of one before the other.

Tis the Season for Change

Nobody likes change, but hey, sometimes change is good. Just ask this guy with his sentimental piano music and emotive voice-over. We're making some changes at Lizzie Mae's Pigeon Feed, but without the piano music in the background. You can hum something while you read this if you want.

Worldwide and Super Pigeon are now discontinued. Short Beak Show Bird is also history. But fear not, replacing the Short Beak Show Bird is the Short Beak Show Bird No Corn. Ingredients for the Short Beak Show Bird No Corn in order are:

- Austrian Peas
- White Milo
- Hard Western Wheat
- Safflower
- Vetch
- Brown Rice

Boring Operational Issues - Holiday Schedule

You saw it in the e-mail. We posted it on the Facepage. But here's another reminder about our holiday delivery schedule.

THANKSGIVING: If you live east of Ohio, all orders need to be in by 6:00 on Thursday (11/17). Most deliveries will be running 24 hours earlier than normal. That way our drivers can get home in time to deliver themselves from the driver's seat to the easy chair and watch football!

For our Midwest crowd, send orders in by noon on Monday (11/ 21). Our Thursday deliveries will take place on Wednesday and for those of you who get delivered overnight Thursdays, your product will be delivered overnight Friday into Saturday morning

XMAS & NEW YEARS: If you continue to live east of Ohio, please send in orders by noon on Saturday (12/24) and Saturday (12/31). No change in delivery days so our drivers can attend Kevin's Rocking New Year's Eve Party! (Don't be jealous, he opens up three bags of low-sodium potato chips and it's totally BYOB. The whole thing wraps up around 10:30.)

Our peeps in the Midwest won't see a change in anything since the holidays are on Sunday.

GET OUTSIDE WITH YOURSELF

Another Lizzie Mae newsletter is at an end. Time for me to go observe large men grunt loudly and run into each other haphazardly. Not talking football - that's just most days at the farm.

Good to see you again, enjoy this nice weather. Break out the sweaters and start thinking about what promotions we can help with for the holiday season.
